BSL

End of life choices - personal is political

Supported by Cross-Party Group on End of Life Choices
10:30am - 12noon / £6.00 /£4.00

A YouGov poll in 2021 reported that three-quarters of British people supported doctor-assisted suicide for patients suffering from a terminal illness. Join the panel to discuss end-of-life choices, ethics, morals and the politics of social change.

A sporting chance - open schools to community access

Supported by Cross-Party Group on Sport
10:30am - 12noon / £6.00 /£4.00

Sport is one of the keys to life-long health, happiness and mental well-being. So, what is stopping Scottish communities from accessing local, inclusive and affordable facilities on their doorstep?

Prostitution - the buyers and sellers

Supported by Cross-Party Group on Commercial Sexual Exploitation
12:30pm - 2:00pm / £6.00/£4.00

Join a panel discussion and part-dramatized reading to discuss the reality of commercial sexual exploitation and the role of online pimping websites, with front-line service providers and prostitution survivors.

WASPI Women - Righting a wrong

Supported by Cross-Party Group on WASPI
2:00pm - 3:30pm / £6.00/£4.00

What is the state of play with campaigning group Women Against State Pension Injustice (WASPI)? And how do we ensure millions of women in the future do not retire with a fraction of men's pensionable savings?

ONLINE

Whose town is it anyway?!

Supported by Cross-Party Group on Towns and Town Centres
12:30pm - 1:30pm / FREE

Who holds the power in town centres - is it the developer, the chain stores, or the investors? Join the debate on how we build in climate, social inclusion and health and well-being to every town centre in Scotland.

Information and disinformation: controlling the narrative as a tactic of war - and peace

Supported by Cross-Party Group on Tibet and Scotland's Futures Forum
3:00pm - 4:30pm / £6.00/£4.00

It is often said that the first casualty in war is truth. This event will consider the use of information and disinformation in armed conflict, as well as the role of citizen journalism and digital communication in our world today.

Disability and the future of work

Supported by the Social Justice and Social Security Committee
3:00pm - 4:00pm / FREE

What is the working future for Scotland's disabled people? And what can Scotland do to harness the technological trends shaping our future working lives and use them to support more disabled people into work?

Solving the global cost of living crisis: Is a wellbeing economy part of the answer?

Supported by the Cross-Party Groups on the Wellbeing Economy; and International Development
5:00pm - 6:30pm / £6.00/£4.00

The global cost of living crisis is fuelling growing calls for a fairer economic model. How can Scotland live up to its global responsibility and build an economy that is fair to both those in Scotland and people elsewhere?

FEATURE EVENT

In conversation with Professor A.C. Grayling

In partnership with Scotland's Futures Forum
6:00pm - 7:30pm / £8.00 /£6.00

Join Professor A.C. Grayling CBE, one of the UK's most prolific philosophers and authors to discuss his timely book, For the Good of the World: Is Global Agreement on Global Challenges Possible? as Professor Grayling examines the three most urgent challenges facing the world today: climate change, technology and justice. As Master of the New College of the Humanities, and an author of over 30 books, he dissects both the threats and the inspiring solutions. Can human beings collectively agree on a set of values to save the planet from extinction? There will be a book signing immediately after this event in the Festival Café Bar.

FRIDAY 12 AUGUST

21st century migration and asylum policies

10:30am - 12noon / £6.00 /£4.00

With the Ukrainian conflict resulting in mass migration, is it time to challenge polarised rhetoric on migration and asylum and look at the economic benefits of migration to those nations facing a demographic time-bomb on working generations?

BOOK YOUR TICKETS NOW AT FESTIVALOFPOLITICS.SCOT

Are the strongmen of politics killing democracy?

12:30pm - 2:00pm / £6.00/£4.00

Are we witnessing the return of strongman politics, where democratically elected leaders from around the globe became ever more authoritarian under a veneer of liberal democracy? How do we keep authoritarians in check and how worried should democracy be?

ONLINE

The climate crisis hasn't gone away

12noon - 1:15pm / FREE

Half the world's population suffer water shortage at any time during the year and one in three face deadly heat stress. Where is the action on pledges made in Glasgow and what will COP27 in Egypt achieve later this year?

Cost of living crisis - food and fuel as legal human rights?

In partnership with the University of Aberdeen
2:15pm - 3:45pm / £6.00/£4.00

Increasing numbers of pressure groups believe the right to nutritious food and ability to heat our homes should also be legally enforceable human rights. What are the tools available to governments to make such a policy work? And are they realistic?

BSL

Elect her

In partnership with Elect Her
2:30pm - 4:00pm / £6.00/£4.00

While a storm of accusations of sexual impropriety, bullying and misogyny circles over politicians, and with politicians like Scotland's First Minister outlining the horrific online abuse targeted at female politicians, it's no surprise that many women decline to join the gladiatorial race for political office and goal of achieving 51% representation the UK. So, what makes a woman step up to become a political agent for change? And what kind of support, inspiration and motivation can they expect from their local community to national political platforms? Join the Presiding Officer and speakers to discuss the challenges and the solutions.

BSL

Scotland, racism and the legacy of a transatlantic slavery trade

In partnership with Coalition for Racial Equality and Rights and Scotland's International Development Alliance
4:15pm - 5:30pm / £6.00/£4.00

Join the panel discussion on the legacy of Scotland's role in the transatlantic slavery trade. What impact does this historical injustice have on the racism in Scotland, and what is the role of reparative justice?

FEATURE EVENT

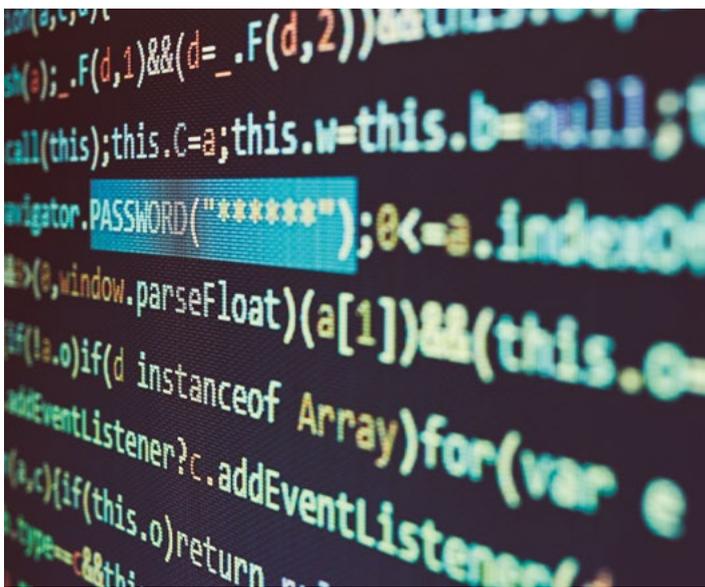

In Conversation with John Barnes

In partnership with the Coalition for Racial Equality and Rights
6:00pm - 7:30pm / £8.00/£6.00

Join England football legend and former Celtic FC manager, John Barnes in conversation to discuss his eloquent and thought-provoking book, The Uncomfortable Truth About Racism. Drawing on his personal playing experiences as well as historical and intellectual arguments on slavery and colonialism, Barnes provides the structure for the uncomfortable conversations he believes must take place if society is to address the pervasive racism that endures in contemporary UK society.

There will be a book signing immediately after this event in the Festival Café Bar

SATURDAY 13 AUGUST

BOOK YOUR TICKETS NOW AT FESTIVALOFPOLITICS.SCOT

LGBTI+ Elder Care

In partnership with the National Theatre of Scotland
10:30am - 12noon / £6.00 /£4.00

Many elderly LGBTI+ people fear discrimination and a return of having to hide their true self from more conservative peers when they move into shared retiral or caring living space. Is the care profession offering a safe and respectful environment for all sexualities? This panel is linked to the Portraits of a Generation exhibition in the Festival Café Bar

FEATURE EVENT BSL

National Theatre of Scotland rehearsed reading of Holding/Holding On

In partnership with the National Theatre of Scotland
1:00pm - 2:00pm
£14.00/£12.00*/£12.00/£10.00
*limited ticket offer for rehearsed reading and the post-panel debate

Join this rehearsed reading scripted by Nicola McCartney in collaboration with care experienced people and those within the care system. A powerful work where care, class and poverty meet. It examines what care really means in contemporary Scotland and asks: what if instead of ever more complicated systems we can increase support, compassion and love? Directed by Claire Lamont and performed by Maureen Carr, Daniel Cahill and Callum Cuthbertson, with more to be announced

Care, love and understanding?

In partnership with the National Theatre of Scotland
2:15pm - 3:30pm
£14.00/£12.00*/£6.00/£4.00
*limited ticket offer for rehearsed reading and the post-panel debate

Join the post-performance discussion for National Theatre of Scotland's rehearsed reading of Holding/Holding On, that explores the way society treats and views young people and adults in the Scottish care system. What roles do class and poverty play in the care system? Where do love, support and compassion come on the priority list, and where are the lines drawn between childcare and child protection for the care staff trying to get it right for everyone?

Data vultures destroying democracy

In partnership with Scotland's Futures Forum
2:30pm - 4:00pm / £6.00/£4.00

Our phones and laptops harvest information on everything from our habits to our medical issues. Who is regulating this mass surveillance? And how can we protect our privacy and democracy from a trend that is undermining equality for all?

Do you trust politicians?

In partnership with the John Smith Centre, University of Glasgow
4:00pm - 5:30pm / £6.00/£4.00

Trust in politicians is a cornerstone of a functioning democracy, and without it, we are left with weaker public services and widening inequalities. With levels of trust continuing to decline, what are the solutions for building a healthier democracy?

The state of the UK union

6:00pm - 7:30pm / £6.00/£4.00

Given proposals for a Scottish independence referendum, the Brexit outcome, and the handling of the COVID-19 pandemic by each UK country, the pressure on the devolution settlement has arguably never been greater. What is the state of the UK union, and would further devolution proposals help the union modify and survive?

CAFE BAR

Join us in the lively FREE Festival Café Bar for a programme of live music, choirs and exhibitions as part of this year's programme of free entertainment. Please see the Festival of Politics website for the full line-up.

EXHIBITIONS

Cubes of Perpetual Light in the Members Garden

The Cubes of Perpetual Light in partnership with Dandelion, is an installation centred on sustainability and the concept of sow, grow and share as applied to music, community, food, ideas and knowledge. The Cubes combine miniature vertical farms with LED lighting and specially commissioned music, to encourage plant growth.

Artist's impression of the installation at the Parliament

Portraits of a LGBTI+ Generation

Portraits of an LGBTI+ Generation showcases 10 portraits and videos featuring members of the National Theatre of Scotland's LGBTI+ Social Dance Club. With photographs by Tiu Makkonen, the exhibition gives a sense of the varied, rich and remarkable lives of many LGBTI+ elders living across Scotland.
